Curriculum Corner

Reading: In reading we are practicing our decoding skills and applying the phonics skills that we have been learning this year when we are reading a text. We will be working with "Magic e" at the end of words and making long vowel sounds in Letterland.

Writing: We will continue writing "how to" pieces where the students write informative/explanatory texts in which they name a topic, supply the steps for the topic, and provide some sense of closure for an activity they know how to do.

Math: We are starting Geometry. Students will be naming, describing and comparing 2 dimensional and 3 dimensional shaped using defining characteristics of that shape.

Social Studies: In social studies, students are learning about communities looking at needs and wants, and examples of goods and services in the home, school and community.
